Company Profile

CONTINGENCY CONSULTING GROUP, INC. makes it possible for your organization to respond effectively before, during and after a crisis through proper Business Continuity Planning. This response is crucial to the success and reputation of your company and could be the difference of recovering from such an event.

Our Founder

Our founder has over 20 years experience associated with Business Continuity and Disaster Planning and corporate security management. In the 1980's, his family business experienced one of Kansas City's worst fires in the history of the city. He brings his real life experience to the table with each plan the company produces. Additionally, he is trained in personal protection, corporate investigation, interview and interrogation. Over the last several years, he's been published several times in leading magazines along with speaking engagements and web seminars.

Experience

With our diversity, we are uniquely positioned and experienced in assisting a wide variety of companies from Fortune 50, to small family businesses. Past clientele consist of critical infrastructure, high safety and security risk operations, manufacturing, transportation, health care and educational facilities.

Business Continuity Plans produced for the critical infrastructure have received accolades from regulatory audit committees noting "positive observations" of the plans. They are used as the standard for excellence in disaster planning and risk mitigation techniques.

All Consultants are Certified Business Continuity Professionals (CBCP)
through the Disaster Recovery Institute (DRII)

Services Provided

Depending on your industry, government regulations require and sound business practice recommends that all businesses (no matter of the size) have a business continuity/disaster recovery plan to ensure the survivability of the company. With a plan, your company mitigates the risk of down-time, the impact to your customers and lets your employees know you have planned for their future.

Training & Awareness

Training programs are custom designed to address your specific needs. We emphasize practical (real life) issues related to natural, human and technological impacts. Programs consist from one hour to several days onsite training which is focused on being interactive with the attendees.

Advance training is provided which utilizes team exercises to address the planning, execution and recovery phases of your specific program. This knowledge will enhance your staff's ability to respond to an incident in a confident, coordinated manner reducing your companies downtime.

These workshops are centered on your staff role playing and exercising accidents, toxic release or spills, crowd situations, workplace violence and other awareness concerns.

Contact a member of our staff to discuss a program tailored to your specific needs.

Why Contingency Consulting Group?

Approach

Because of our familiarity and ability to develop clients plans to all regulatory requirement and industry guidelines, our program is recognized as industry leading in content and realistic approach. Utilizing the continuity/disaster industry standards, we seamlessly integrate the clients requirements and provide a uniquely tailored program.

Methodology

Our focus is on risk mitigation (reduction) because nobody can predict or stop a disaster from happening. Contingency Consulting Group offers a program to reduce, respond and recover limiting the exposure and reputation to your organization.

Interdependencies

Because our program is not a boxed solution, it allows us to team with our clients to look at the relationship both up and down stream to ensure supply chain continuity. Additionally, within the organization, interdependencies allow us to focus on "critical" operations. These critical functions may be the reason your department is impacted. With a risk analysis and a business impact analysis, these chock points can be determined and mitigation strategies developed to overcome the obstacles.

Partnership

When you partner with us to secure your business continuity program, your information technology, risk, insurance, audit and management teams have more time to support your employees and focus on your operational success. Utilizing certified planners ensures you received time tested, best practices to meet your changing needs. Give us a call to see how we can partner with you.
